ACHP Welcomes New Member AultCare

Washington, D.C. (September 1, 2017) – The Alliance of Community Health Plans (ACHP) is growing its network of nonprofit, community-based, provider-aligned health plans. The organization announced that AultCare Insurance Company, the Aultman Health Foundation service-oriented health plan, has joined ACHP as its newest member.

Established in 1985 and based in Canton, Ohio, AultCare provides high-quality, cost-effective care to Northeast Ohio. With a 93 percent member retention rate, the plan is committed to superior care and excellent customer service. AultCare’s PrimeTime Health Plan received 4.5 out of 5 stars in rankings by CMS, and U.S. News and World Report recognized it as one of the best Medicare Advantage plans in Ohio. ACHP looks forward to working with AultCare to further its mission of leading their community to improved health.

“We are very excited to have AultCare join as our newest member,” said ACHP President and CEO Ceci Connolly. “AultCare’s commitment to serving its community aligns with the deep roots our members have in the regions where they operate.”
